

Can You Help?

This is Anthony Allegretti—Tony. He is a retired NYPD and ex-Marine. Last year while waiting for a liver transplant he contracted a deadly infection and had to have his leg amputated. His Medicare and secondary insurance will cover $45,000 of the $50,000 he needs for a special prosthetic called a C-Leg which is computerized and will allow him to walk. He has trouble with balance with the prosthetic he now has and cannot walk. In fact he keeps falling and fractured a bone recently which held him up from going to physical therapy. If every club gave a little something to help him out he could pay the $5,000 to purchase the leg. He is a proud guy and was very upset about not having the money...but hey, everybody needs help sometimes. Can you help the Baldwin Lions give Tony a chance to walk again?
